Project Proposal

My project is a website that recommends books based on historical wars, aiming to inform, entertain, and spark interest in history through literature. This is important to me because I love books, and one that truly inspired me is "The Poppy War" by R.F Kuang, and the way she wrote it, the depth, the history, the emotion, the sorrow. All of it just inspired me and made me think how amazing it would be if a website like that existed.
A place where I could find more books inspired by war.